WYOPASS 2018-2019 Board Member Election Candidate Biographies

INCOMING TREASURER CANDIDATE (Two-Year Term)

Megan Nelms, Planner, Campbell County

Megan Nelms, AICP currently serves as incumbent Treasurer for WYOPASS. She has served in this role for almost 4 years. She also serves as Treasurer of Western Planner and her knowledge and skills in coordination between the groups and knowledge of accounting and budgeting helps her in the tasks for serving as Treasurer. It is a position that requires continuity and trust in managing WYOPASS assets and yearly budget.

Megan has been the County Planner and Zoning Administrator for Campbell County, Wyoming for 10 years where she is responsible for the County's overall planning, nuisance mitigation and permitting functions. Megan received her B.S. degree in Geography and Planning from the University of Wyoming in and her M.S. degree from South Dakota State University in Rural Sociology and Community Development in 2010. Megan is active with the local Campbell County Economic Development Corporation and the NEW Growth Alliance. She also serves on the City of Gillette Historic Preservation Board.

Megan is proud to be part of WYOPASS and helping planners and planning commissioners across the state do their jobs better.

INCOMING SECRETARY CANDIDATE (Two-Year Term)

Katherine Malgieri, Planner, City of Cheyenne

Katherine Malgieri has been a City Planner in Cheyenne for two years. She is the principal planner for zoning appeals, variances, and violations in the office. She has a BS in Criminal Justice, a Certificate in Organizational Communication, and a Master in Public Administration from Penn State University, and a certification in emergency management from FEMA. Prior to working with Cheyenne, she served six years in the US Air Force as Security Forces, two years in the federal civil service, and three years for the Wyoming Department of Criminal Investigation. She pursued a transition from criminal justice to city planning in order to serve a more proactive role in improving community welfare. She recognizes her need for additional knowledge in planning principles and best practices, and she identifies that conferences and organizations like WYOPASS are crucial resources for learning. She hopes to serve on the WYOPASS board to help it continue and strengthen itself as an asset for all planners in the state.

Throughout her evolving career, Kat has volunteered on several boards, including community groups, employee associations, military spouse welfare groups, and special purpose committees. She has served in various officer positions within these organizations, and has experience with everything from routine bookkeeping and accounting to legal implications and large-scale event planning. She looks forward to putting her experience to use for WYOPASS.
